Our Summer with FAMU, Sarajevo Film Selection and Chilean Talents

Our online summer selection at DAFilms.cz brings award-winning documentaries from the most prestigious South-East European festival, showcase of films from Prague's FAMU and an unexpected discovery of up-and-coming Chilean filmmakers!

This year, our summer at DAFilms has been dedicated to young filmmaking talents! Until August 9, you have a chance to watch five Chilean films made by students of Universidad de Chile that are remarkable not only for their filmmaking maturity, but also for their ability to comprehensibly comment on complex documentary topics. The filmic images produced by young Chilean filmmakers reflect on death, leisurely moments in bustling cities as well as paintings by García Lorca.

From August 10 to 16, we will offer a diverse selection of documentary films associated with the Sarajevo film festival. Shortly before the start of its 21st edition, we will bring a cross-section of films that appealed to juries and audiences in Sarajevo and at other film festivals. You can watch the “romantic docu comedy” LOVE AND ENGINEERING, a Romanian film gem about life at the fringes of society 24 BUCKETS, 7 MICE, 18 YEARS or SKANDAL, the very first Albanian film focusing on the LGBT community and many others!

Starting on August 17, DAFilms will spend two weeks at Prague's FAMU exploring the ways in which young students of the most prestigious Czech film school reflect on the present-day Czech reality – from the Gordian knot of newly built motorways running through Central Bohemian Uplands (BYEWAY directed by Ivo Bystřičan) to the portrayal of a “professional drop-out” – dancer Jiří Blackfoot Šerý (BLACKFOOT directed by Jan Kačena).
